

Online Meetings

A message from Deepak followed by essential resources

April 13, 2020

Dear Club Officer,

In these unprecedented times, there's no question that a new reality is in play—but so, too, is a new resiliency. For Toastmasters, that resiliency is manifesting through online vitality. As the COVID-19 pandemic leaves the world struggling with new hardships, including finding social and human connection, I implore you to join us in making the value of Toastmasters more relevant than ever.

Is your club meeting online? I really hope you can do your part to ensure everyone in our Toastmasters community has access to virtual meetings and online interaction. It is already making such a difference for those members who can still socialize and carry on club camaraderie virtually. And I am here to help—with instruction and resources to get you properly connected and digitally active.

Wishing you great success online,

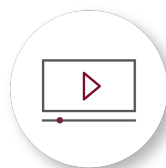

Deepak Menon
