Goals Objectives

Whole Room Discussion

What are examples of goals and objectives in Toastmasters?

Action Planning

Whole Room Discussion

What are examples of action and planning in Toastmasters?

An anatomical illustration of a human torso from the neck down to the waist. The body is rendered in a translucent blue color, revealing the internal organs and the nervous system. The heart is prominently displayed in the center of the chest, colored in a vibrant red. A complex network of nerves, shown in a lighter blue, branches out from the spine and extends throughout the torso and arms. The background is a solid, dark grey.

Networking Activity

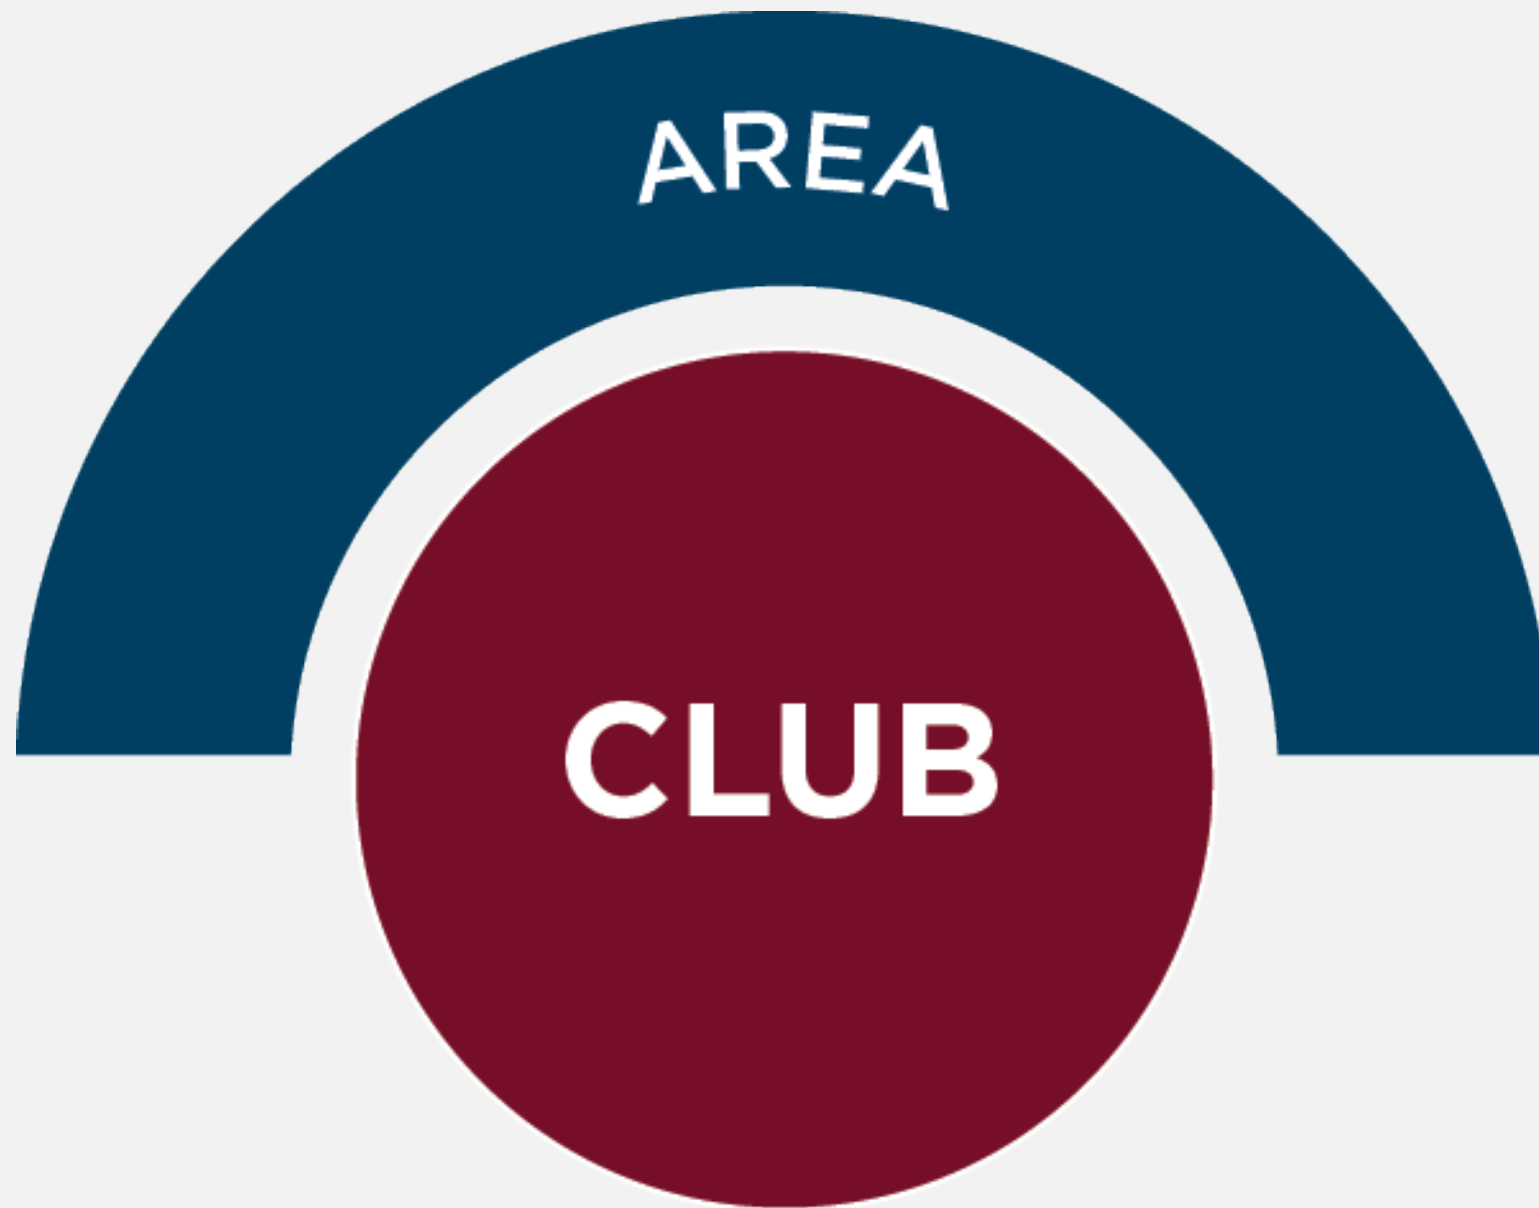

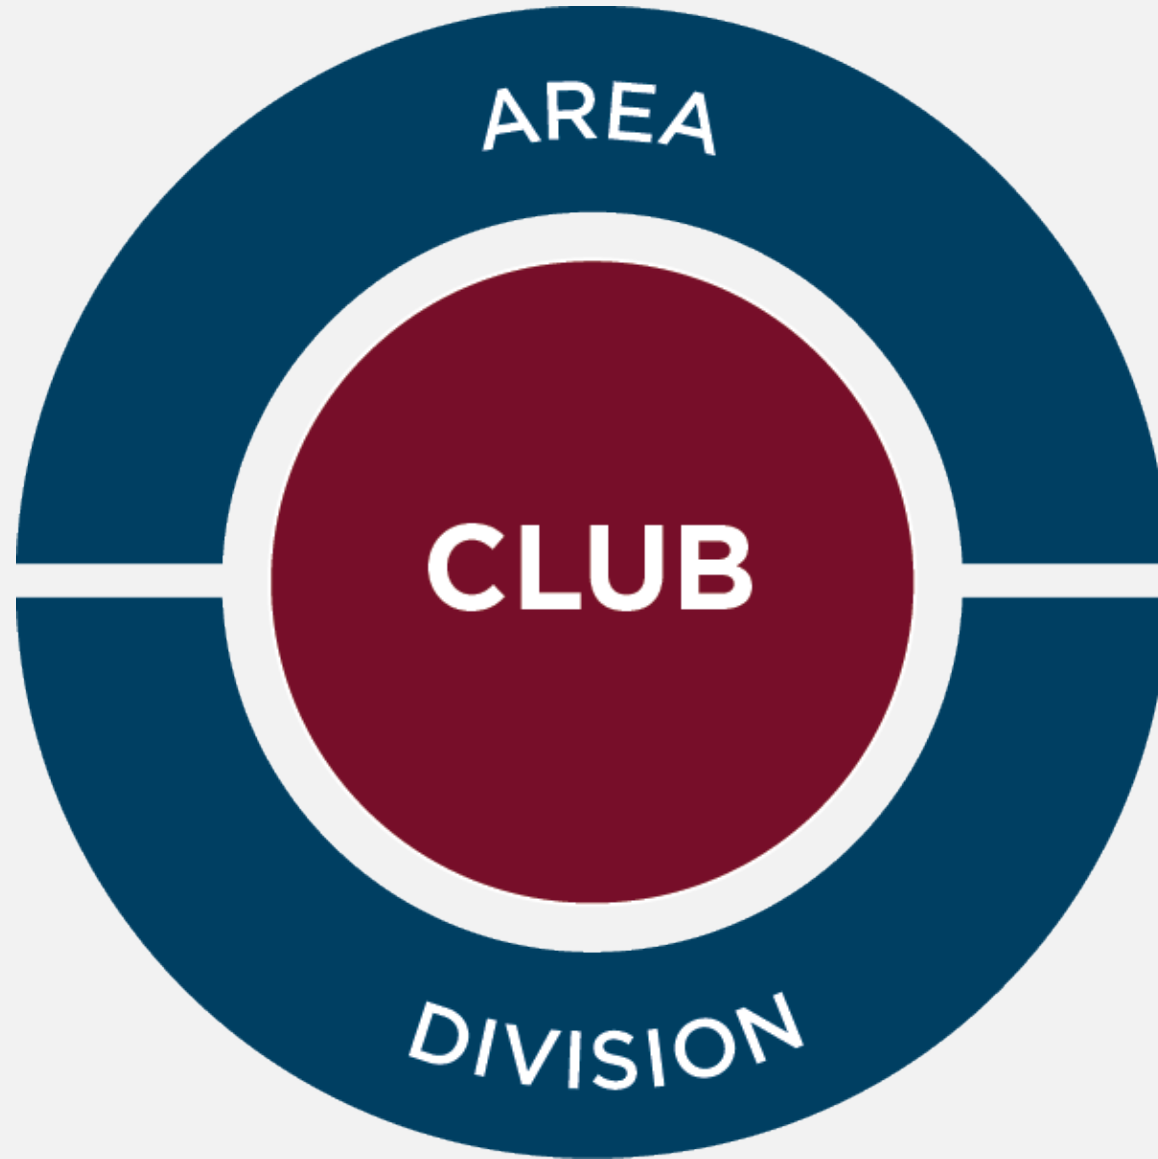

The Main Thing

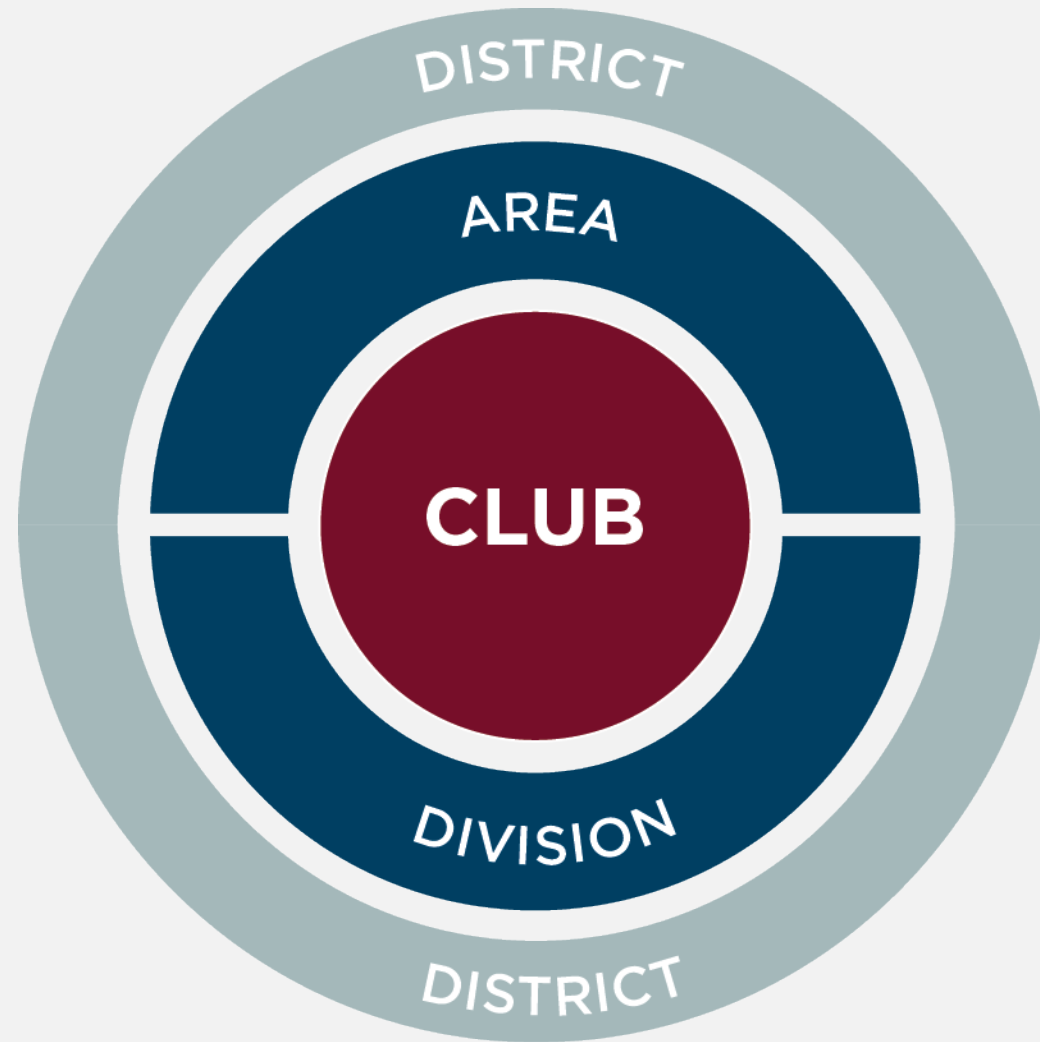

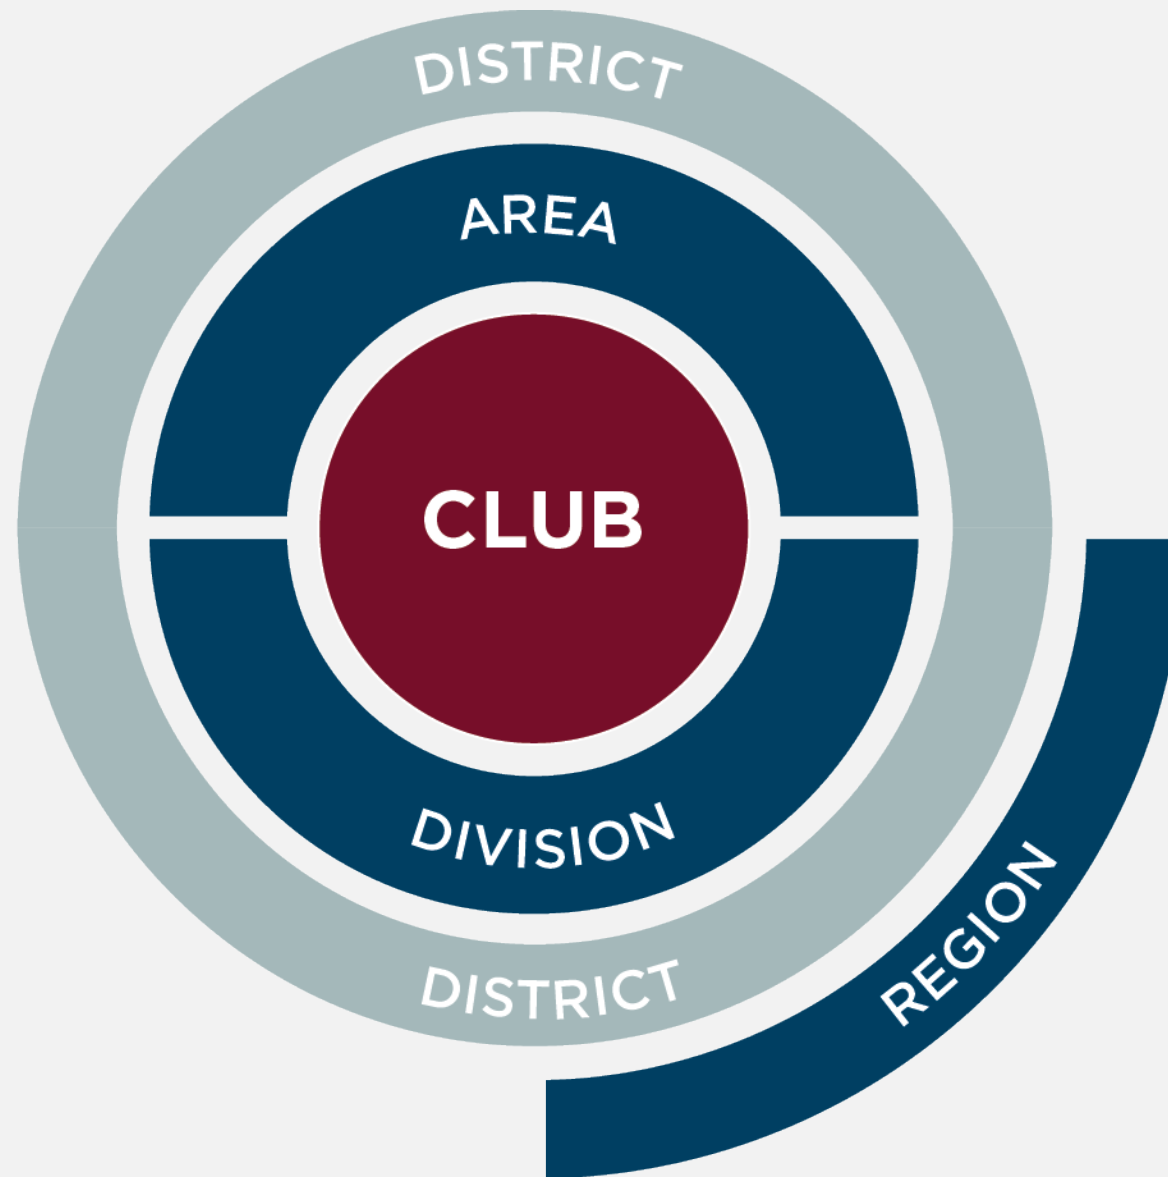

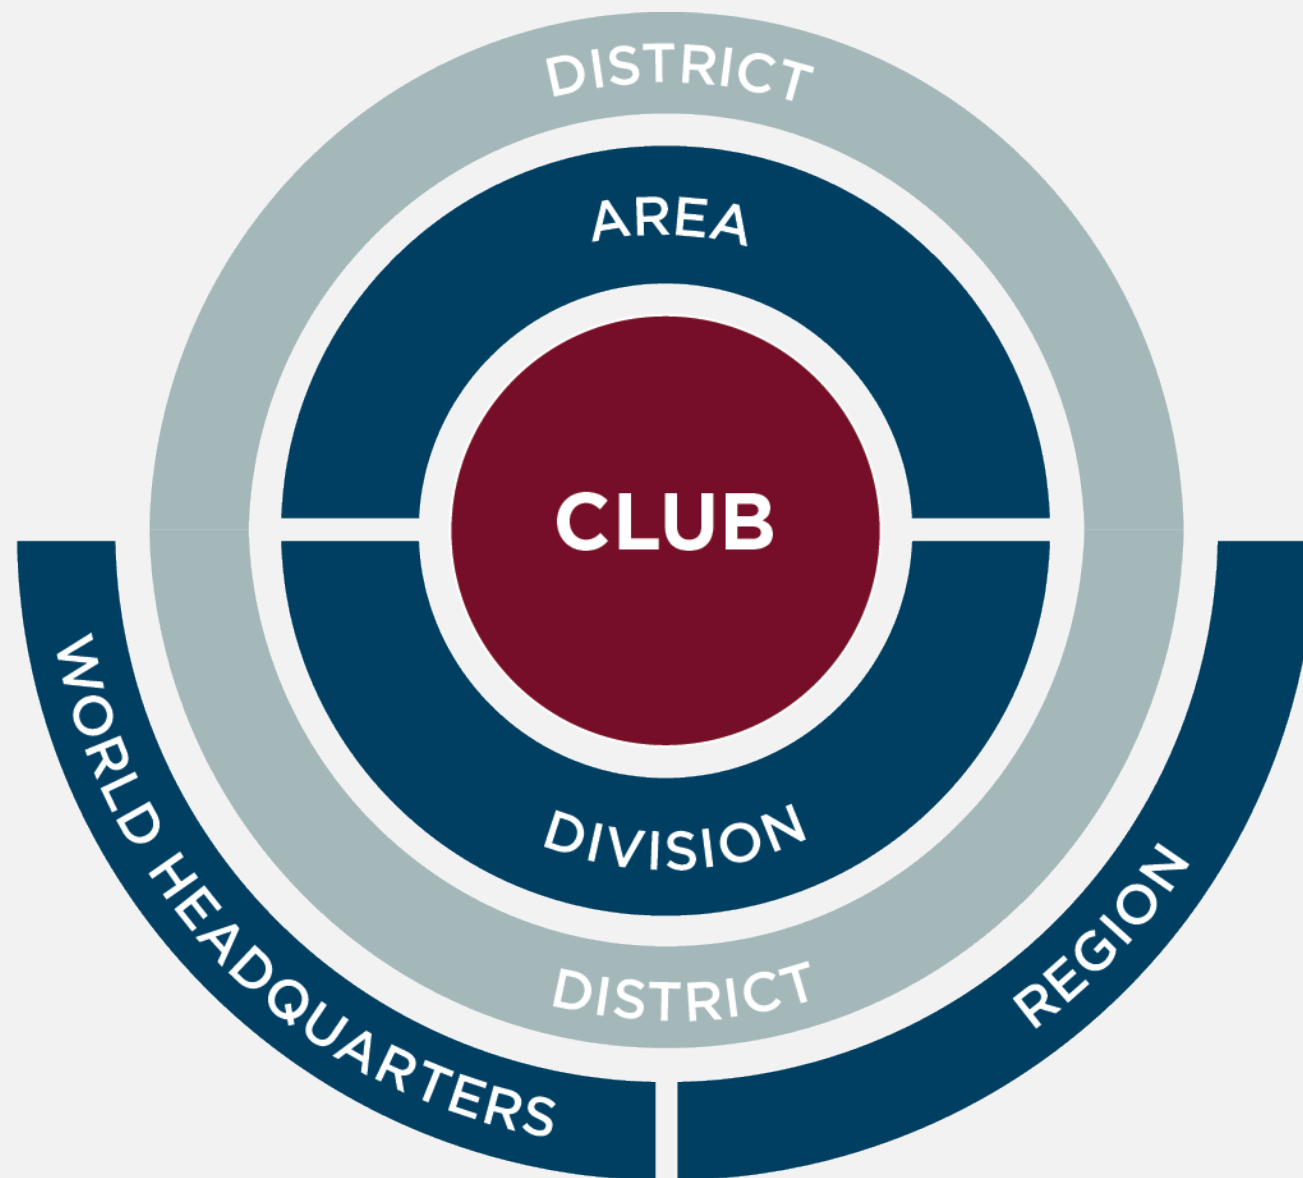

CLUB

“...this was the beginning of our use of the district plan, which has been so effective in growth and development.”

Ralph C. Smedley
The Story of Toastmasters

District Mission

We build new clubs and support all clubs in achieving excellence.

A grayscale background image showing a person standing on a rocky mountain peak with their arms raised in a 'V' shape. The person is silhouetted against a bright sky. In the background, there is a large lake on the left and rolling mountains on the right.

“The main thing is to keep the main thing the main thing.”
